Thank you for taking the time to read through this strategic plan. You were given this document because we believe you can help us build a better state that reflects our God-entrusted responsibilities. The Family Policy Institute of Washington has a county-by-county, church-by-church approach to influence the public square in order to develop healthy biblical roots.

We know two principles to be true. Principle #1 is that God-fearing individuals must steward the public square with boldness and humility. Principle #2 is those God-fearing individuals must love their neighbor by looking out for their interests and keeping them from harming themselves.

We need Defenders of our public square. Together, we can defend and advance biblical values in the public square. Together, we will build the long-term infrastructure to protect generation-to-generation conservative values. Together, we will preserve our constitutional rights and responsibilities. Together, we will ensure that Washingtonians are free to pursue life, liberty, and happiness.

I look forward to serving you and winning again in Washington State.

MOTTO

Defenders: Advancing Biblical Values in the Public Square

MISSION

To unite, represent, educate, and equip Washington legislators, pastors, and citizens to speak out on authentic biblical values, public policy, and bills impacting individuals and families within the public square.

VISION

A state where authentic biblical values flourish, and people are free to live out their faith in the workplace and community.

CORE VALUES

Value People: We believe that each person has inherent value. Therefore, we believe the way we talk, write, and think about other people should reflect their intrinsic worth and value, regardless of philosophical, religious, or ideological disagreements.

Be Positive: We believe we live in the greatest nation on earth. While we will fight vigorously for the things we hold dear, we will conduct ourselves in a way that reflects the gratitude we hold for the unmerited favor we enjoy as Americans.

Be Professional: We believe that excellence is crucial to effectiveness. We believe our conduct, our speech, and any work product should be professional and are committed to ensuring that everything we do meets the highest standards of professionalism.

Be Thoughtful: We believe personal and emotional issues should be dealt with in a considerate and thoughtful way. We do not believe anyone is obligated to agree with us. Therefore, as we endeavor to persuade others of the rightness of our cause, we are committed to focus our discussion on ideas, not people.

Have Integrity: We believe it is imperative to the success of our mission that we maintain a united front that exemplifies the integrity and character of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. It is only by supplementing our faith through virtue, excellence, knowledge, truth, and self-control, that we will be able to serve the needs of Washington State Christians and families, and boldly and confidently represent biblical family values and moral standards in the State Legislature. (2 Peter 1:5-8).

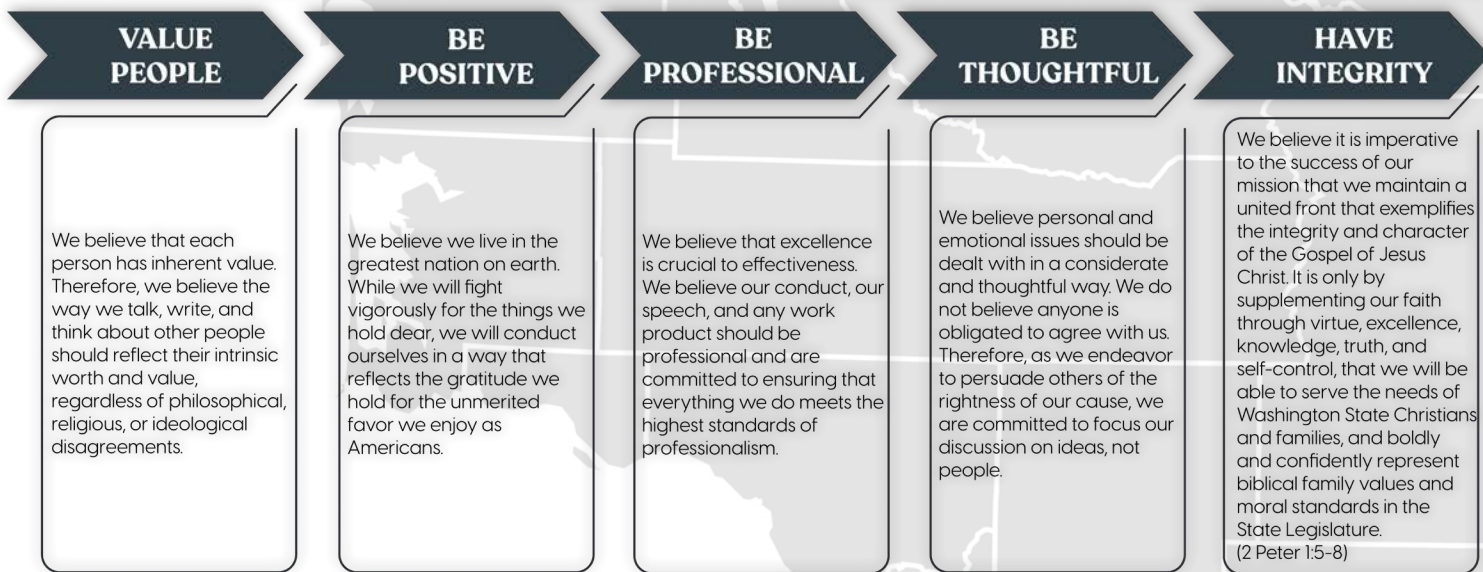

DEFENDERS

Build a team of Defenders,
1.7 million passionate Christian conservatives committed to making a meaningful impact and holy stewardship of the public square.
With a shared biblical worldview and a genuine love for others, we can work together to develop a community that stands for what's right and just.
We will advance biblical values in the public square.

* In sum, we estimate one-third of Christians hold conservative values. The formula is: (Population) x (Christians) x (35%). This estimate is a FPIW strategic calculation based upon the Pew Research Center's "U.S. Religious Landscape Study" (2014). Overall, the Washington State population is 7,785,786, per the U.S. Census (2022). The number of Christians is 4,749,329 or 61% of the population, per the Pew Research Center. Therefore: (7,785,786) x (61%) x (35%) equals 1,662,265 – or 1.7 million.

ENGAGE

Washington State is in danger of losing its identity due to the implementation of radical Leftist policies. Conservative residents have been forced to leave, resulting in negative population growth and a consequential lack of proportional support for family-friendly candidates. This has led to a shift in control of some legislative districts, with the impact of right-of-center causes largely depending on litigation rather than lobbying against policies at their inception point in Olympia.

Yet despite the challenges conservatives face in Washington, they retain the numbers to be competitive and even victorious at statewide, legislative, and local levels. The biggest challenge facing conservatives in the state is voter apathy. To overcome this, conservatives and Christian voters must undertake one of the most ambitious organizing efforts in the state's history.

The Family Policy Institute of Washington (FPIW) is committed to influencing state and local laws and public policies to support religious freedom, parental rights, the sanctity of life, and the institutions of marriage and family. If FPIW can successfully organize conservative Christian voters to pray, vote, sign, and engage in this challenging environment. In that case, it will achieve its highest priority and ensure that Washington remains true to its conservative values

SUMMARY: In Washington State, FPIW is the leading expert in mobilizing the Christian conservative market to engage actively in the public square.

Niche: The Christian Conservative Community

Strengths

- FPIW has a well-rounded team with decades of experience in critical areas. Because of this, the organization is well-suited to move quickly on ideas, produce quality content, host valuable events, and serve as messengers to the state's conservative Christian populations.
- FPIW's organizational longevity is a significant strength. With almost 20 years in operation, the organization maintains a credible voice in times of crisis, benefits from a well-established support base, and keeps a contingency of loyal, vocal opposition.
- FPIW's board of directors operates cohesively with FPIW's staff and contractors. The organization continues to operate seamlessly, serving Washingtonians through many programs and events.
- FPIW's events are seen as critically important. The events are generally well-attended, engaging, and timely.

Weaknesses

- FPIW's fundraising apparatus is underdeveloped. This exposes FPIW to financial risk and creates a tenuous financial position wherein the organization heavily depends on continued financial input from the Board of Directors.
- FPIW does not advertise or administrate a permanent legacy-giving program. Long-term gifts, bequeaths, and legacy gifts (either cash or stock) can be major financial boons to not-for-profits.
- Churches and pastors DO NOT understand the importance of speaking on these crucial topics.

Opportunities

- By collaborating and strengthening our bond with other conservative grassroots organizations, we are positioned to co-labor alongside a variety of catalysts to increase both the validity and efficacy of FPIW in Washington State.
- FPIW's remote-first staff is efficient at operating with geographical distance, minimizing the need to commute to an office, and diminishing the expenses involved with relocation and in-person work.
- FPIW's organizational credibility gives it a leg-up in organizing litigation, serving as a fundraising conduit, and acting as the public relations directory locally.
- Washington State's homeschooling and religious private schooling utilization rates increased dramatically due to overburdensome COVID restrictions in Washington State. Combined with evident political agendas being pushed by government-funded schools, parents are perhaps more aware of the threats – and open to options – than ever before.
- FPIW's pastors' network is growing more than ever before. Our challenge is to get them to speak out about biblical worldview and FPIW Core Issues from the pulpit and in the halls of the church.

Threats

- Bureaucracy at the federal and state levels continues to be a threat to all religious organizations in Washington State. COVID served as a firm reminder that governments will use any excuse to curtail free speech and religious freedom – especially for Christian organizations.
- Negative population growth among conservatives is a major threat to conservative objectives. Elections, at their core, are math equations. If negative population growth continues, it will make FPIW's organizing efforts more and more difficult.
- Similarly oriented national organizations are utilizing Washington State for fundraising opportunities, diminishing the available resources for FPIW. In most cases, the finances these groups raised in Washington State do not return to the state for advocacy or education.
- Exclusive by-mail balloting continues to operate without oversight, giving the Left's ballot harvesting operations a leg-up on the right's more traditional voter turnout approaches. Accountability and integrity are critical in the pursuit of free and fair elections.

OBJECTIVE

KEY RESULTS

3,714,511 Defender Prayer Warriors

All public square battles are ultimately spiritual battles. Therefore, we want all Christians in Washington State to pray for their neighbor, city, county, and state.

Christians are divided over their biblical worldview. By building relationships, we will avoid name-calling and labels and instead celebrate the conservative values that unite us. Together, we will return to Scripture and the fear of God. Through repentance and forgiveness, we will heal the divide.

If Christ's followers united behind a biblical worldview, we would have a safer, just, and prosperous public square. We will not confuse unity with uniformity. If we will genuinely listen to each other and look out for others' interest we will discover what is best for our neighbor.

1,700,000 Defenders

FPIW aims to educate Defenders on the importance of adopting a biblical worldview. We believe in calling the church to engage in the public square and to embrace conservative values. Our goal is to help them love their neighbors wholeheartedly by promoting a God-honoring public space that prioritizes the interests of others, not just their own.

KEY RESULTS

1,700,000 Defender Actions

Public squares are like soil; if left uncultivated, weeds will grow. However, through the Washington Constitution, defenders can ensure they are stewarded excellently. Stewardship involves taking responsibility for what has been entrusted to you by God.

1,700,000 Defender Actions

Empowering conservatives to make their voices heard is key to FPIW's success. By providing training on utilizing the ballot box, signing referendums and initiatives, and making the most of legislative sessions, we can ensure that conservative values are represented at every level of government.

Empowering Christians to cast their vote and legally collect ballots is of utmost importance. We will encourage family members to hold each other accountable for voting, and we will make it easy to submit your ballot. Our aim is to ensure that every citizen's voice is heard through fair and free elections.

1,000,000 Defender Signers

700,000 Defender Activists

Mobilizing Christians to become leaders in their community can alter the course of the public square. We will train Defenders to form a team of signers and legislative activists.

County by county, church by church, we will create groups that will have an impact on the direction our state is heading.

TECHNOLOGY STRATEGY

WEBSITE

Our goal is to create a comprehensive website that serves as a one-stop-shop for all public square activities that impact individuals and families, and to maintain it to world-class standards.

OTHER PLATFORMS

In today's digital age, social media and other online platforms have become a powerful tool for mobilizing people towards a common goal. As Christians, we can leverage these platforms to raise awareness and actively engage in the public square with great confidence. Through compelling podcasts, captivating videos, and thought-provoking posts, we can inspire and motivate fellow Christians to take an active role in shaping our society for the better. So let's utilize these platforms to their fullest potential and make a positive impact on the world around us.

APP

The majority of our Christian community members possess mobile devices, which presents an opportunity for us to communicate with them instantly through a digital platform. To achieve this, we plan to develop a secure app that can be tailored to each individual's interests and concerns. This app will enable us to inform users about important events like signing locations, ballot box drop-off locations, and bills that require their attention right away.

EMAIL & TEXT

Email and text messaging continue to serve as the primary means of coordinating group activities. Our existing infrastructure enables us to rapidly organize individuals to take action in the public square. Going forward, we plan to tailor this technology to address the concerns of each individual and prevent overloading them with excessive emails and texts.
